Sick Lit: Endometriosis Edition

Online literary series

This series is part of the In/Visible Endometriosis: Menstruation, Menopause, and Narrative Medicine project. The project explores endometriosis as a case study of social injustice faced by women in a gendered health care system. Bringing together experts from the fields of arts and humanities, medicine, and aging studies with activists and artists, the project promises to offer a unique, interdisciplinary take on living and aging with chronic illness.
